Christian Author Joellen Putnam Releases Powerful Book, "Here Comes the Sun: Moments with God in the Seasons of Cancer"

Christian Author Joellen Putnam has released her first book, "Here Comes the Sun: Moments with God in the Seasons of Cancer," which she wrote to help cancer fighters and longtime survivors address the spiritual side of healing as they navigate the difficult journey of cancer. The book is a deeply personal and candid account of her intimate encounters with God after her diagnosis sixteen years ago at the age of thirty-nine. It is not a memoir but an interactive book to help readers pursue their own intimate time with God.

Putnam's storytelling is honest and authentic and carries a compelling message that spiritual healing is at the heart of overcoming cancer. She encourages readers to process their emotions and questions through creative expression and offers a companion journal for this purpose.

Putnam's story demonstrates the transformative power of faith and is a refreshing reminder that we have a God who loves us, cares for us, and has the power to change us in difficult times. "Here Comes the Sun: Moments with God in the Seasons of Cancer" is a must-read for anyone longing for a deeper connection with God during every season of cancer and life.

The books are available worldwide for purchase on Amazon in paperback and eBook formats, and businesses may obtain wholesale copies directly from the author.
